

See America from a new angle.

Neil Diamond once sang 'Everywhere, from around the world, they're coming to America'. An immensely popular song, it summed up the fifty states and federal district of Columbia that make up the United States of America – The promised land for millions of immigrants from all across the globe.

The fiercely proud American is actually an Irishman. Or a Japanese. Or an Indian. That's the beauty of America. That's what makes her unique. That's what still makes them come.

Situated mostly in central North America, USA lies between the Pacific and Atlantic Oceans, bordered by Canada to the north and Mexico to the south.

A visit to America has a lot to offer. A young country, it is marked by lively, vibrant cities flush with the trappings of entertainment – there's a mind-boggling array of things to do in cities like Orlando, Los Angeles, Las Vegas, and New York where theme parks, museums, and entertainment draw the Americans, not to mention the tourists, in hordes. The western United States, on the other hand, is home to many national parks and natural geologic formations, an entirely different kind of draw to the visiting tourist.

America. Truly, a hundred exciting destinations rolled into one.
